Toledo, OH - The City of Toledo and the Toledo Light Rail Company (TLRC) today (August 14) announced a renewed commitment to build the City's first downtown light rail transit line. The $39 million, 12.6-mile Southwest Toledo Line, which will connect downtown Toledo to Maumee, will provide a vital connection for residents and visitors to an increasingly vibrant downtown, neighborhoods, and local businesses, while creating jobs and improving mobility throughout the region. "This is a great day for Toledo and our region," Mayor Wade Kapszukiewicz said.

"We have a long history of making important investments in our cities. Today, Toledo enters a new era of growth and prosperity, and this important transit project will continue to strengthen our identity and improve the quality of life for our residents." "I am excited to share that the City of Toledo and the Toledo Light Rail Company have secured $39 million in federal funding from the U.S. Department of Transportation for the Toledo Southwest Line. This federal award is the result of a competitive process and reflects the growing demand for an east-west rail corridor, as well as the city's commitment to build an ambitious project that will meet the transportation needs of its residents and businesses." "The Toledo Light Rail System will be a catalyst for private development and economic growth in southwest Toledo," Toledo Light Rail 82157476af
